

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. in France.

Universis præsentis litteras inspecturis, miseratione divina Willelmus Sancti Andreae et Matheus Dunkeldensis episcopi, Johannes de Soule [sic] et Ingerrannus de Um-

1. Seal of the bishop of St. Andrews, in green wax, nearly perfect, the counterseal uninjured. It is dependent from a cord of green silk.

2. The seal of the bishop of Dunkeld, of better workmanship, but more injured than the former. The counterseal also is damaged.

3. The seal of John de Soule, in brown wax, is perfect and in fine order. It is suspended by a cord of red silk.

4. The seal of Ingram de Um-freville is uninjured, and a very beautiful specimen of art. It is attached by a cord of green silk.

The following document connected with this transaction is worthy of preservation: it is here given from the same Carton, No. 7:—

Universis præsentis litteras inspecturis, Audoenus Huglaci, dominus de Hegrenea, baro, consiliarius et secretarius ac nuncius et procurator excellentis principis domini E. regis Norwegiæ illustris, salutem in Domino.

Noverit universitas vestra nos procuratorem nomine dicti domini nostri regis, et ad opus ejusdem franville milites, nuncii et procuratores serenissimi principis domini Johannis regis Scotorum illustris, salutem in Domino.

A.D. 1295.
Oct. 22.

Noverit universitas vestra quod cum inclitus princeps dominus E. Norwegiæ rex promiserit excellenti principi habuisse et recepisse a serenissimo principe domino Philippo rege Franciæ illustri, sex milia marcharum bonorum et legalium sterlingorum monetæ legalis Angliæ et Scotiæ, de pondere et compoto tresdecim solidorum et quatuor denariorum sterlingorum pro qualibet marcha, in pecunia numerata, pro præparacione et municione navigii domini nostri regis in subsidium ipsius regis Franciæ vernali tempore proximo transmittendi. Quæ siquidem sex milia marcharum nos, procurator prædictus procuratorio nomine supradicto, deduci concessimus de summa pecuniæ quam dominus rex Franciæ ipsi domino nostro regi Norwegiæ dare et ministrare tenetur pro dicto subsidio in primo solucionis termino pecuniæ supradictæ, si eum habere contigerit subsidium supradictum; alioquin eadem sex milia marcharum in valore, legalitate, bonitate ac pondere supradictis reddere et restituere Parisiis<sup>1</sup> dicto regi Franciæ, vel alii seu aliis de mandato suo, infra festum Resurrectionis Dominicæ<sup>2</sup> quod erit anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo nonagesimo septimo, ac refundere et restituere sibi omnia dampna, expensas, misias et interesse quæ ipsum dominum regem, ob defectum solucionis hujusmodi in termino supradicto non factæ, incurreret, aut sustinere contingeret, aut etiam sustineret. Credendo super hæc simplici verbo domini Franciæ regis prædicti, absque probationis alterius onere requirendo.

Pro quibus omnibus et singulis tenendis, inviolabiliter observandis et firmiter adimplendis, nos Audoenus prædictus specialiter obligamus nos et heredes nostros, terram nostram, necnon procuratorio nomine domini nostri Norwegiæ regis ipsum dominum regem, heredes ac successores suos, et incolas regni sui, ut iidem incolæ et eorum bona propter hoc in regno Franciæ capi, arrestari, et detineri valeant; necnon tam præfati domini nostri regis quam heredum, successorum, et incolarum prædictorum, et nostra bona omnia mobilia et immobilia, ubicunque et in quibuscunque consistencia, præsentia et futura, expresse et specialiter obligamus. Renunciantes nomine quo supra in hac parte exceptioni non numeratæ pecuniæ, non habitæ non receptæ aut spei [sic] etiam numerandæ, ac omnibus aliis exceptionibus doli et actioni in factum, rationibus et defensionibus juris et facti, quæ contra præsentem litteras possent objici vel opponi.

Actum est siquidem et expresse conventum inter nos procuratorem, nomine domini nostri regis et pro ipso, ac dominum regem Franciæ prædictum, quod si dominus noster rex in solutione prætaxatæ pecuniæ quantitatis termino prænotato, (quod absit), defecerit, generales confœderaciones et fœdera inter ipsum dominum Franciæ regem et nos, procuratorio nomine dicti domini nostri regis Norwegiæ, inita et firmata, quantum ipsius domini nostri regis Norwegiæ utilitatem respiciunt, irrita et juribus vacua, et nullius prorsus momenti existent; dic-domino Philippo regi Franciæ illustri quod ipse Norwegiæ rex eidem domino regi Franciæ in guerra quam contra regem Angliæ, fautores, confederatos, tam Alemanie regem quam alios quoscumque valitores ejus, habere dinoscitur, assistet ope consilii et auxilii, oportunum ac certum conventum inter eos subsidium faciet annuatim, ne ipsum Norwegiæ regem ab hujusmodi præstando præfato domino regi Franciæ subsidio distrahi contingat, vel quomodo libet impediri, nos eidem domino regi Franciæ bona fide tusque Franciæ rex non tenebitur ad observanciam eorundem; et nichilominus confederacionibus ipsis, quantum commodum ipsius Franciæ regis respiciunt, in suo robore manentibus, idem dominus noster Norwegiæ rex ad solutionem dictæ totalis summæ pecuniæ ac restaurationem dampnorum et expensarum prædictorum integre teneatur. De quibus omnibus tenendis et firmiter adimplendis nos in animam dicti domini nostri et nostram corporale præstamus juramentum.

In quorum omnium testimonium præsentibus litteras per infrascriptum notarium publicum scribi et publicari mandavimus, et nostri sigilli fecimus munimine roborari; rogantes venerabiles patres S. Parisiensem (in cujus diocesi præmissa facta fuerunt), necnon Th. Dolensem episcopos, qui præmissis omnibus interfuere præsentibus, ut sigilla sua litteris hiis apponant, ad majorem cautelam et evidenciam omnium præmissorum. Nos autem S. Parisiensis et Th. Dolensis miseratione divina episcopi, in quorum præsentia præmissa omnia, ut superius sunt conscripta, fuerunt per procuratorem prædictum facta, ad requisicionem instantem ipsius procuratoris præsentibus litteris nostra fecimus apponi sigilla. <sup>2</sup> On the 3d January a commission had been granted by the king to Spaldington, but with powers less extensive than those with which he was now invested. It did not authorize him, for instance, to impress men for the vessels. It is entered on the Patent Roll.

Among the miscellaneous Rolls in the Public Record Office is one which relates to this fleet, from which the following extract is given. From the previous portions of the account, it appears that about eight vessels were at this time employed in the service. Of these, the barge of Newcastle carried 120 men, that of Grimsby, 80, and that of Wintringham, 52. The rest averaged about 25 men :—

TRANSLATION.

In the twenty-fourth year of the reign of king Edward of England, Easter day fell on the day of the Annunciation of our Lady.<sup>2</sup> On the Wednesday in Easter week, being the twenty-eighth day of March, the before-named king Edward passed the river Tweed with 5000 armed horse, and 30,000 footmen, and lay that night in Scotland at the priory of Coldstream, and the Thursday at Hutton,<sup>3</sup> and on the Friday<sup>4</sup> he took the town of Berwick-upon-Tweed by force of arms without tarrying. On the same day, sir William Douglas, who was within the castle, surrendered it, and the king lay that night in the castle, and his people in the town, each person in his house which he had taken; and the king remained there nearly a month.

On the day of St. George, 24th April,<sup>5</sup> news came to the king that they of Scotland had besieged the castle of Dunbar, which belonged to the earl Patrick, who held strongly with the king of England. It was upon a Monday<sup>1</sup> that the king sent his troops to raise the siege. Before they came there the castle had surrendered, and they of Scotland were within. When the troops of the king of England came there, they besieged the castle with three hosts on the Tuesday<sup>2</sup> that they arrived before it. On the Wednesday,<sup>3</sup> they who were within sent out privately, and on Thursday and Friday<sup>4</sup> came the host of Scotland all the afternoon to have raised the siege of the Englishmen. And when the Englishmen saw the Scotchmen, they fell upon them and discomfited the Scotchmen, and the chase continued more than five leagues of way, and until the hour of vespers. And there died sir Patrick de Graham, a great lord, and 10,055 by right reckoning.

On that same Friday,<sup>5</sup> by night, the king came from Berwick to go to Dunbar, and lay that night at Coldingham, and on the Saturday<sup>6</sup> at Dunbar, and on the same day they of the castle

And he conquered the realm of Scotland, and searched it, as is above written, within twenty-one weeks, without any more.

At Berwick he held his Parliament; and there were all the bishops, earls, barons, abbots, and priors, and the sovereigns of all the common people; and there he received the homages of all, and their oaths that they would be good and loyal to him. To the well regulated people he forthwith gave up all their own goods and those of their tenants; the earls, barons, and bishops he permitted to enjoy their lands, provided they came at All Saints<sup>8</sup> to the parliament at St. Edmunds. Then he appointed the earl of Warren to be guardian of the land, and sir Hugh de Cressingham treasurer, sir Walter de Agmondesham chancellor. <sup>1</sup> From the Original Roll, in the Imperial Archives at Paris, sect. J. carton 631, No. 6, marked "Angl. iiij.," according to an earlier numeration. It consists of seven membranes. It begins with the title, "Super homagio regis Scotiæ facto regi Angliæ. In Dei nomine, amen. Anno a nativitate ejusdem 1292, secundum quod observat ecclesia Anglicana, indictione vj, anno 21 Edw. i. sexta die exeunte mense Decembri, apud Novum Castellum super Tynam, in aula palatii dicti domini regis Angliæ infra castrum, —egregius princeps dominus J. de Balliolo, rex Scotiæ, fecit homagium." This is attested by J. de Cadamo. Then follows the entry "Super fidelitate regis Scotiæ," 1292, Nov. 20, at Norham. This also is witnessed by Jo. Erturi de Cadomo. The present instrument is then introduced, as in the text. It is indorsed, "Super homagio regis Scotiæ facta regi Angliæ. In B. xxxiiij."

July 7.

Dei gratia rex Scotiæ in plena sui et libera regia potestate existens, palam, publice, sponte et expresse cognovit organo vocis suæ quod seductus tam temeritate propria quam quorundam consilio perversorum, per quosdam suos procuratores et nuncios transmissos in Franciam cum domino Philippo rege Francorum et quibusdam aliis regni Franciæ contra serenissimum principem dominum suum, dominum Edwardum eadem gratia illustrem regem Angliæ, quasdam confederationes, conventiones, contractus, et illicitas pactiones suo, Edwardi filii sui et incolarum regni sui, nomine, de facto contraxit, contra homagium suum et fidelitatis debitum quæ pro regno suo Scotiæ dicto regi Angliæ prius fecit; quodque confederationes, conventiones, tractatus et pactiones prædictas nomine suo, Edwardi filii sui et incolarum regni sui nomine initas, postea ratas habuit, easque approbavit et per suas patentes litteras confirmavit; de malefactis cujusmodi vehementer condolere et ex corde pœnitere se dixit; asserensque dicto domino suo regi Angliæ reconciliari et deinceps in omnibus adhærere se velle, spretis et pro nullis habitis confederationibus, conventionibus et pactionibus supradictis, easdem confederationes, conventiones, tractatus, contractus et pacta, et quicquid ex eis fuit quomodolibet subsecutum, vel subsequi extunc poterat<sup>o</sup> ullo modo, quatenus de facto processerant, revocavit, cassavit, irritavit et annullavit, revocatas, cassas, irritas et nullas publice nuntiavit, ac pure, expresse, sponte et absolute, quatenus de facto processerant, renuntiavit eisdem. Renuntiavit insuper specialiter et expresse omni commodo quod exinde sibi, aut filio suo prædicto, vel regni sui incolis, posset aliququaliter provenire.

Actum in cimiterio de Stroukatherache, anno, indicatione, mense et die supradictis; præsentibus venerabili in Christo patre domino Antonio, Dei gratia Dunelmensi episcopo, ac nobilibus viris domino Umfrido comite Herfordiæ, domino Johanne Comyn, 'comite' de Bouchane, domino Hugone le Despenser, et domino Johanne Comyn de Badenache, seniore, militibus; testibus ad hæc vocatis specialiter et rogatis.

Item, anno et indictione supradictis, mense Julii, die decimo, in præsentia mei infrascripti notarii et testium subscriptorum ad hæc vocatorum specialiter ac etiam rogatorum, egregius princeps dominus Johannes Dei gratia rex Scotiæ supradictus ad benevolentiam magnifici principis eadem gratia regis Angliæ illustris, non vi nec metu coactus, sed spontaneus rediens, semetipsum regnumque suum Scotiæ, et totum jus quod in eo habuit vel ad illud, populumque suum regni sui prædicti et omnia bona sua, præfati domini regis Angliæ voluntati pure, sponte et absolute submisit; vita et membris absque corporis incarceratione tantummodo sibi salvis. Ac demum regnum suum prædictum cum homagiis et aliis suis juribus et pertinenciis universis, suamque regiam dignitatem, honoremve regium, necnon omnes terras et possessiones suas, cum omnibus bonis suis mobilibus, immobilibus ac se moventibus, dicto domino suo gratanti animo et spontanea voluntate pure et absolute reddidit; præmissaque et eorum singula organo vocis suæ patenter expressit. Et prædicta regnum suum et alia superius annotata in manus venerabilis patris domini Antonii, Dei gratia Dunelmensis episcopi vice et nomine dicti 'domini' regis Angliæ recipientis eadem, una cum suo sigillo regio (quod paulo ante in quadam bursa suo secreto sigillo signavit), tradidit et dimisit; mihiq; notario infrascripto mandavit, præcepit pariter et injunxit in virtute præstiti juramenti, quod præmissa omnia et eorum singula publicarem in forma prædicta, indeque facerem publicum instrumentum, ad perpetuam rei memoriam fidemque et testimonium præmissorum.

Whereas . . . we have sworn upon the holy Gospels.

And for ourselves, and for each of us severally, we have done homage to our lord the king aforesaid in these words : 'I become your liege man of life and of members and of earthly honour against all persons who can live and die.' And the same king, our lord, received them in this form : 'We receive this for the lands whereof you are at present seised, saving our right and the right of others, and excepting the lands which John Balliol, formerly king of Scotland, gave you since we surrendered to him the realm of Scotland, and also excepting those lands which we have seised before you have come to our peace.'

Moreover, we all, and each of us severally, have done fealty to our lord the king of England aforesaid in these words. 'I shall be true and loyal, and I will keep faith and loyalty to the king of England and to his heirs of life and of members and of earthly honour, against all persons who can live or die, and never will I bear arms for any one, nor will I give advice or aid against him nor against his heirs in any case which can happen, and I will particulars of which are said to be contained in a schedule forwarded along with this document, but of which no copy remains. The goods so arrested are, by the king's orders, to be delivered up to the bearers, "Thomæ Ranulphi et Roberto Doukes (?) militibus, nunciis dilectissimi nostri, illustris regis Scotiæ." ## TRANSLATION.

It is appointed by the king and his council that no passage of wools or of hides, of messengers or of merchants, take place anywhere within the realm of Scotland, excepting in places where are the cocket-seals, and at Kirkcudbright; but before they are exported from Kirkcudbright let the cocket-seal be sent there by the earl of Warren and by the council which the king has in Scotland. And that in each place two of the most honest and loyal men of the same place, associated with the keepers of the customs of our lord the king, be appointed and sworn to keep the port so closely by day and night, that no messenger carrying letters or message from abroad pass in any manner without especial warrant from the king, nor any other person carrying closed letters or other suspicious thing, but let such a person be taken and kept in prison until the king shall have ordered his pleasure therein. And all the mariners who shall pass, every time that they set out,

And the king wishes that the messengers be closely searched and examined, so that nothing may pass whereby harm or damage may come to the king or the realm. And if any messenger or other person with a letter or other thing dangerous to the king or the kingdom be found, let him be taken and sent to the king, or let him be kept in prison with his letters until the king shall have told his pleasure. And let each of the wardens take especial care that no merchant of Lombardy (to whom the passage has already been forbidden, and is so still) pass in anywise. And should any such come to pass, let him be forthwith taken and safely kept until the king shall have sent his pleasure.

In the other ports of the realm which are not named, the king wills that the sheriffs of every place, in each port of his bailliwick, great and small, should appoint two good men of the place to prevent any messenger or merchant from passing without the king's warrant. And if the mariners of these places wish to go to sea, let them be sworn each time and examined that they do not carry abroad any letter or message which might be hurtful to the king or the realm.

And it is appointed that this ordinance be proclaimed and published throughout the kingdom in the chief places and towns, so that no man may excuse himself by ignorance. And the king and his council intend, if any messenger or other person arrive from abroad at any of these ports, or any other, that the form above said be observed in regard to them.

In the same manner . . . to John earl of Warren, warden of the realm and land of Scotland, that he cause this form to be kept and firmly observed in all the towns where the cocket-seals are in Scotland, and also at Kirk-cudbright, according to the articles which are sent thither.

And the aforesaid parson and Walter distrained her from day to day for the aforesaid four marks, so that she could not dwell in the aforesaid tenement. And upon this grievance the aforesaid Gunnore came into this court to seek remedy, and thereupon she had a writ to the persons aforesaid to cease from their demand, so that there should be no further dstraint by reason of the said demand, and they did not cease to do so, but have distrained her grievously. And thereof she prays remedy, that she may hold the tenement in peace, according to the points of the charter of our lord the king.

Demum Rolandus filius Alani, frater ejusdem Roderici (qui fidem et fidelitatem domino regi in curia sua personaliter præstitit), erectis vexillis, manu armata venit ad homines nostros in servitio domini regis existentes, et quosdam ex eis occidit, et eos omnibus bonis suis 'et navibus' spoliavit. Et dicti Rolandus et Rodericus terras domini regis de Sky et de Leogos in magna parte deprædabant, et homines in eisdem insulis inhabitantes occidebant, et incendia faciebant, et mulieres violenter opprimebant, et naves in servitio domini regis existentes infra immunitates ecclesiarum comburi faciebant; et dictæ insulæ per præfatos in tantum fuerunt adnichilatæ quod dominus 'rex' ex eis parum aut nichil de firma sua poterit lucrari.

Nos autem, Deo comite, cum omni posse nostro accedimus ad prædictos prædones et pacis perturbatores mitigandos vel debellandos, qui contra majestatem domini nostri regis talia perpetrare audebant.

Unde eidem domino nostro regi supplicamus ut per suas literas districte præcipiat nobilibus de Ergadia et de Ross ut nobis veniant in succursum, si eorum auxilio contra prædictos malefactores indigentiam habeamus. Et quia sigillum proprium tempore confectionis præsentis scedulæ non habuimus, sigillum Julianæ sponsæ nostræ præsentibus fecimus apponi.

[1297. June?]—Statement by Alexander of the Isles, in which he vindicates his Conduct.<sup>1</sup>

Memorandum quod iste est processus . . . anno M.CC. nonogesimo septimo, videlicet, quod cum Laclan Magrogri fecisset hom . . . utum, dictus L. ad insulas rediens, dominicas domini regis terras sibi usurpavit . . . ricum prædæ totaliter devastavit. Super quibus homines insulani Alexandro de Yle nuncios miserunt . . . negotiis, et dictus Alexander misso exercitu securitatem recepit a præfato Rodrico et ab hominibus dicti . . . competente quod starent regis voluntati et mandatis. Postmodum vero prædictus Lachlan, unico filio . . . nec ulla permissione retenta præfatas insulas domini regis invaserunt, ac in eisdem insulis . . . incendia et deprædationes atrociter perpetrarunt, et irruentes ex improvise super quosdam ex hominibus dicti Alexandri ipsos galeis et bonis suis spoliaverunt. Quo facto, insulani iterato ad Alexandrum destinaverunt nuncios, petentes quod dictus dominus Alexander personaliter cum suo exercitu ante dominicum in Ramis Palmarum versus insulas access . . . et dictum Lohlan, in primis cum ita esset obsessus quod resistere non posset, ad voluntatem domini regis recepit permissionem ut . . . filium suum regi daret in obsidem, et quod castrum suum redderet ad regis voluntatem. Ipso vero L. sic constituto . . . prædictus Rodricus frater suus cum potentia dicti L. et suggestionem, ut dicitur, quosdam de hominibus dicti Alexandri . . . ad quandam insulam divertere hostiliter invasit, et ex eis circiter triginta interfecit; quo facto, Alexander cum tota potentia sua prædictum Rodricum per terram et mare persecutus est, ita quod vi compulsus se reddidit, et in vinculis tanquam priso tenetur.

Dictus vero Lochlanus filium suum Alexandrum reddidit in obsidem, et etiam castrum, et quia continebatur in littera domini regis quod Alexander de Yle salvo custodiret præfatos malefactores, donec aliud a rege reciperet in mandatis, dispositis insulis regis meliori modo quo poterit, et pace reddita huspandis et mulieribus (qui prius non audebant pro timore dictorum malefactorum extra castrorum refugia commorari), duxit secum dictum Lochlan donec per ballivos regios esset consultus quid de tali homine foret agendum. Sed dictus L., relicto filio in obside et fratre suo in carcere, relictis etiam galeis suis, clam et furtive recessit, et (ut creditur) quantumcunque poterit, homines et terras regis molestabit.

Dictus vero Alexander, præmissis fratribus suis cum exercitu ad dictum L. prosequendum, et ad terras suas in manu regis sesyandum, personaliter cum expeditione cito sequendum . . . sit dictus Alexander ubi dictus L. receptabitur, nisi in terris domini Alexandri de Ergadia, cujus filiam . . . vel in terris domini Johannis Cumyn<sup>1</sup> de Lochabor, quia homines dictæ terræ dicto L. et Duncano filio domini Alexandri [de] Ergadia contra pacem domini regis jurati fuerant et uniti quod juxta castrum Johannis Cumin in Lochabar duæ magnæ galeæ fuerant, quibus in insulis non fuerunt majores . . . dictæ terræ renuerunt tradere Alexandro d'Eyl, juxta tenorem litteræ domini regis, sed potius Duncanum filium Alexandri de Ergadia, qui adhuc fidelitatem domino regi non fecerat, in capitaneum receperunt, ac dictas galeas festinanter ad mare præparaverunt, ac homines hinc inde in regno se regi objecerunt. Dictus Alexander, misso navali exercitu, dictas galeas sibi petiit reddi ex parte regis, tanquam constituto capitaneo per litteras regis de Ergadia et de Ross; sed homines existentes in præfato castro simpliciter galeas reddere renuerunt, et homines Alexandri de Yle petentes naves cum sagittis et carellis vulneraverunt, nec aliquam fidem voluerunt facere quod dictæ galeæ contra regem non venirent. Et quia homines dicti Alexandri propter pugnam immi-nentem de castro non poterant galeas salvas educere, vel ad mare trahere, ipsas in eodem loco combusserunt, ne terris et fidelibus regis forent periculum et discrimen. Dictus etiam Alexander de Yle, audito quod Senescallus Scotiæ contra dominum regem insurrexit, quoddam castrum cum baronia, nomine Glasrog, quæ prædictus Senescallus tenuit, in manu regis sesiavit et adhuc detinet, paratus ad alias terras procedere ad domini regis commodum et mandatum, et de terris quas occupat nomine regis secundum ordinationem suam et ballivorum suorum in omnibus parere.

Dictus vero Alexander de Yle supplicat domino Johanni de Benestede quod ista ostendat domino regi cum effectu, et quod super istis dominus rex voluntatem suam dicto Alexandro celeriter transmittat, et quod etiam supplicat domino regi de expensis dicti Alexandri in expeditionibus ejusdem anni et quod nichil recepit de quingentis libris [?] quas dominus rex anno præterito sibi concessit, nec a balliva sua adhuc super eisdem aliquam sufficientem habet responsionem. Super hiis et omnibus aliis petit regis voluntatem.

Sire, I understand that they have informed you of the peace, under the seal of the bishop of Glasgow, along with his letter of

A nostre tres honorable seigneur, saluz, si li plet e tute-voys pret e apparaille a soen loyal service.

Cher sire, come vostre Tresorer d'Escoce avoit fet assembler graunt genz, e les mena jekes a Rokeburghe pour avoir corou sur vos enemis ke estoient en la compainie le eveskes de Glagu, le count de Karrik, e le Seneschalle d'Escoce, si vindrent mounsieur Henri de Perci e mounsieur Robert de Clifford a Rokburghe, e menerent en lur cumpainie mounsieur Alisaundre de Lindesey e monsieur William Douglas, e neus moustrent ke il ount receu a vostre pes les enemis ke estoient levez encounter vous decia la Mer d'Escoce ; e pour ceo retournes nous jekes a Berewike pour attendre la venu mounseigneur de Garenne. E si adunks ne se moustrent vos enemis plus apertement a vostre pes ke il ne ount fet jekes en cia, mout de genz quident ke ceste pes serra ben cruce.

TRANSLATION.

To our very honourable lord, greeting, if it please him, and [I am] always ready and prepared for his faithful service.

Dear sire, your Treasurer of Scotland having caused to be assembled a large troop, and having led them to Roxburgh to have attacked your enemies, who were in the company of the bishop of Glasgow, the earl of Carrick, and the Steward of Scotland, there came sir Henry de Percy and sir Robert de Clifford to Roxburgh, and brought in their company sir Alexander de Lindsay and sir William Douglas, and told us that they had received to your peace the enemies who had risen against you on this side of the Scottish sea ; wherefore we returned to Berwick to await the arrival of my lord of Warren. If, then, your enemies show themselves the readier to come to your peace than they hitherto have done, many people think that this peace has been well devised.

And, dear sire, because sir William Douglas has not kept the covenants which he made with sir Henry de Percy, he is in your castle of Berwick, in my keeping, and he is still very savage and very abusive ; but I will keep him in suchwise that, if it please God, he shall not get out. And the church of Douglas is vacant, and is well worth 200 marks, as I have heard ; and if it please you to give it to your Treasurer of Scotland, I believe that you will have bestowed it well ; for, by the faith which I owe you, he does not grow slack in your service, but takes the greatest pains to make things succeed.

Dear sire, your enemies are dispersed and dismayed, and if the peace which has been given them in your name does not please you, they shall speedily be disgraced, if you so order it to those who manage your affairs in these parts. Dear sire, be commended to God.

Sire, your commands wished me to go without delay into Scotland, to do what the earl of Warren shall tell me . . . commandment.

I went thither ; and at Berwick I found the earl and the other good people of your council, on the Sunday before the Gule of August, and they told me . . . should undertake the keeping of Scotland, and I answered that always would I willingly do your orders in all matters where I thought that I should succeed to your honour. But, because, sire, . . . insufficient in skill and ability to venture on such a high matter, unless I had wherewith to support it to your honour, I dare not do so. But my body and my goods, and all that I have, shall always be ready to do your service. For the goods which I have would be too small, as far as I can stretch them, well to keep that land to your honour (for they do not extend beyond 1000*l.*), and to keep 50 armed horses. And moreover I do not think that I in my poverty can be able either well or honourably to keep the land in peace to your profit and honour, when such a nobleman as the earl can-

And therefore, if it be [your pleasure], be pleased to have regard to the condition of the land, and the great loss which you might therein incur through my want of skill were I foolishly to undertake such a high matter . . . to sustain it to your honour; and thereupon will you intimate your will, and the manner how it shall please you, that I may know how therein you may have honour and profit, . . . and I have satisfaction from you and your approval. To our lord the king and to his council show Perres de Deneven and Robert Herouh, that at the time when our lord the king was in Flanders, the earl of Warren, guardian of Scotland, with the earls and the barons of England who were in his company, recovered the town of Berwick upon Tweed which William Waleys and the other enemies of the king had seized in the twenty-sixth year of the reign of our lord the king. The said earls and barons told the said guardian that they could not well tarry there unless the foot-soldiers were properly paid for their residence.

To our lord the king prays Thomas de Fishburn that he will do a kindness to him respecting land to the value of twenty marks of rent, in Edenham, near Roxburgh, which sir John de Balliol gave him within nine weeks after he had done his homage to our lord the king for the realm of Scotland at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, for money which he owed to the said Thomas. And this rent the said Thomas took peaceably for three years and a half by the hands of the tenants of the said town of Edenham, while there was peace between the king of England and the said sir John de Balliol, then king of Scotland. And when the war began between them, Thomas was disturbed in the receipt of the said rent until our said lord the king went to Flanders. And at that time, at London, our lord the king granted (thanks to him for it), his writ to the said Thomas, which he carried to the earl of Warren, at that time guardian of Scotland, who caused him to have seizin of the said rent, according to the purport of his charter, saving the right of our lord the king and others. And the said earl ordered sir Walter de Agmondesham, then chancellor of Scotland, to make for him a writ to the sheriff of Roxburgh to have seizin of the said rent. And because the Scots again rose against our lord the king, and sir Hugh de Cressingham and other good Englishmen were killed at Stirling, the said writ was not delivered to the said Thomas, nor has he since received nor levied anything of the said rent.

Wherefore he prays our lord the king that he would be pleased to command his chancellor of Scotland to make for him a writ for the aforesaid rent similar to that which was formerly made for him by the order of our lord the king; seeing that he is, and always has been, in his fealty.

before sir Roger Brabazon and his companions, justices of our bench, at the quinzaine of Easter, to do fealty to us for the things which she holds in the manor of Sprouston, which is within the realm of Scotland, and how she came before you at our Exchequer there to do her fealty, and that you decided not to admit her, as you have certified us by your letters; it is our wish that for certain reasons she do her fealty before you at our said Exchequer. And when she shall have done it, that you cause it to be made known to our said justices, as you shall see it right to be done. And in the same manner it is our wish that you should act in the matter of the lady de Vescy, who, as we understand, ought to do fealty for the part which she holds in the manor aforesaid.

Dated under our Privy Seal at Basingburne, 3d May, 26 Edw. I.

Henry de Empingeham and John de Karletone, clerks, shall say to Richard de Bremesgrave this message, which the same Richard shall tell, as from the king, to sir Robert Hastings and his brother, and the other men-at-arms who are in their company at Roxburgh and Jedburgh. And also he shall tell the same message to sir William Latimer and to the rest of the garrison of Berwick ; namely, that our lord the king has gone to Dumfries to raise his peel and to reinforce the castle. And his son has gone with him and many other good men-at-arms ; and he has sent sir John de Saint John towards Galloway to bring to a good end his affairs in those parts. Wherefore the said Richard shall pray them that they, on their part, shall make some good expeditions upon the forest of Selkirk, and elsewhere, where they shall perceive that it will be good, and that they exert themselves to do this so well that the king may hereof have good news, and that they be always occupied and busy with what the king has charged them to do, and as far as they are able that they employ themselves herein until they have another order from the king. And let this message be said to them so well and so openly that they may have good heart and courage to do well, and that they may know that the king has this matter at heart.

And let Wodehous, the clerk of the wardrobe, be made to return to Roxburgh to pay the 60 l. to the men-at-arms of Roxburgh and Jedburgh for 8 or 10 days beyond the last pay which he has made, and let him deliver to the constable of Roxburgh what shall remain over and above that payment, and let him tell the same constable and his brother that they shall have more money within eight days.

And let Wodehouse the clerk be able to tell the king on his arrival, and the said Henry de Empingham (who shall come with him to the king), how these messages have been told them, and how they are taking the matters in hand, and how they are interested about them after having heard the king's pleasure.

To his very honourable father in God, sir Walter, by the grace of God bishop of Chester, his bachelor John de Kingston sends honours and reverences as to his lord.

Be it known to you, sire, that I have received a letter from our lord the king in which I am commanded to request you to deliberate respecting the request which sir Robert de Lesse and sir Thomas de Bannebury have made to the king for robes for themselves, their esquires, and their pages ; and as to the request which the crossbowmen, who were in the garrison at Bourg and Blaye, and who are now in my company, have made to the king for their robes and shoes. Whereupon, I pray you, sire, to deliberate, since I cannot come to you, and hereupon to send me your pleasure.

Sire, as to the news in our neighbourhood, I have to tell you that the earl of Buchan, the bishop of St. Andrews, and other earls and great lords who were on the other side of the Scottish sea, have come to this side, and were at Glasgow on the day on which this letter was made ; and by . . . they intend to go towards the borders, as is reported among them and their people who are in the forest. And whereas sir Simon Fraser comes to you in such haste, let me inform you, sire, that he has no need to be in such a great hurry, for there was not by any means such a great power of people who came into his jurisdiction but what they might have been stopped by the garrisons if sir Simon had given them warning.

<sup>1</sup> The following letter (much defaced and torn) was apparently carried by Simon Fraser to the treasurer upon this occasion, to be by him given to the king. The governor of Berwick, by whom it would seem to have been written, had formed a more favourable estimate of the bearer than the keeper of Edinburgh Castle. The original is in the Public Record Office :—

“Sire, monsieur Simon Frezer senvent a vostre service, qe mut me ad prie qe jo vous requerge qe vous le eez excuse de ceo . . . a vostre reale seignurie qe vous eiz regard a ceo qe il ‘vous’ est bons e loiaux, e bien e loiaument se est porte devers nous, e mot se peyne . . . promis. And of this I warned him eight days before they came ; and before they were entered into the forest, it was reported that there was a treaty between them and sir Simon, and that they had a conference together, and ate and drank, and were on the best of terms. Wherefore, sire, it were well that you should be very cautious as to the advice which he shall give you.

And let me tell you, sire, that this same sir Simon sent me a letter (whereof I send you the copy), the day when he set out from his charge, or the next day, and he wished that I should come thither to him ; to which I made such an answer as I send you in writing, but I do not know whether it reached him or not. And he sent me other letters some time before I came thither to him, on the day on which our enemies came suddenly before our castle, and on which sir Thomas d'Arderne was taken ; wherefore I fear that he is not of such good faith as he ought to be. Wherefore I beg of you and the rest of the king's council to beware.

I have to inform you, sire, that they of the forest have surrendered themselves to the Scotch ; and intelligence has come to

TRANSLATION.

To his very dear friend sir Ralph de Manton, John de Saint John sends greeting and dear friendship.

Since we have been so grieved by sickness that we could not by any means travel so as to be at Roxburgh this Wednesday next after the feast of Saint Bartholomew, as was appointed, we pray you especially that, along with sir John de Segrave, our cousin, and sir William de Latymer (to whom we have written), and with sir Richard Siward (whom we send to you), you would have the goodness to be our representative to do whatever we could if we ourselves were there, in the manner which you yourself well know how to do, and according to what you shall see to be meet to the honour and the profit of our lord the king.

And we pray you for sir Richard Siward, our cousin, that you would have the goodness to help him, out of love to us, to obtain

And if it so happen that your mills are broken or out of order by reason of a flood for some time, whereby they cannot be used, and they wish to grind elsewhere, or in their own houses, they should bring their grist to the farmer of your mills and grind it where they please. And if they do not do this, and if they can be convicted of having ground elsewhere without having made compensation to the farmer for their grist, they may be seized on their way toward their houses after having ground, and the horse shall be forfeited to you, and the meal shall go to the farmer of your mills. And I<sup>e</sup> have frequently cautioned them, as from you, sire, to observe this custom as they were wont to do before the conquest, and as they ought to do of right, and have distrained them by many distresses, which distresses the warden has delivered by plevin; and the burgesses have answered me that they have not their condition of burgesses as they used to have, wherefore they will observe no such custom, nor will they do so without especial commandment from yourself, if they are not to have their position as burgesses, as they used to have before the conquest.

Be it remembered that in regard to the town of Berwick it is appointed by the king and his council that they should have sixty men-at-arms and 1000 foot soldiers, whereof 100 should be cross-bow-men; and that they should receive the king's wages in such manner as the sheriff of Roxburgh, the sheriff of Jedburgh, and sir Simon Fraser with one accord have awarded. And let them see that they make no foray anywhere, or engage in any important affair against the enemies, without having a reinforcement from the troops in the said garrison every time they shall be so employed of thirty men-at-arms and 500 footmen. Of these (as it shall appear to be necessary) the warden of the town shall at one time be the leader of the foray, and at another time the constable of the castle, according as the case may require; but so that always one of them, whenever such expeditions occur, should remain as the keeper of the castle and the town until the others return.

Edward by the grace of God king of England, lord of Ireland, and duke of Aquitaine, to the sheriff of York, greeting.

Whereas we trust, by God's help, in this summer next ensuing to come with our host in great power into the parts of Scotland to curb and annihilate the malice and rebellion of the Scots, our enemies and rebels, in consequence whereof it will perforce be necessary to make great provision of many kinds of victuals for the support of ourselves and of our host aforesaid against our coming into these parts, we command you, firmly injoining you, that you cause to be provided for us from the issues of your bailiwick within your bailiwick (excepting the bailiwick of Holderness), in the places where you can more conveniently do so to our profit and to the greater easement of our people, as well from those per-

And you shall cause the said wheat to be ground and well sifted, so that no bran remains therein, and the flour thereof you shall cause to be put into good casks, both strong and clean, so that the said flour may be closely packed therein, and well pressed down, and on each cask let there be placed three hoops of hazel, and some salt at the bottom of each cask to prevent the flour from becoming bad. And this you shall cause to be done by good people, loyal and prudent, so that the article may continue for a year without being damaged, or two, if necessary.

And all these things aforesaid you shall cause to come to Berwick-upon-Tweed, so as to have them there on Whitsun eve next coming, or on Whitsunday at the latest, to deliver them there to the receiver of our store.

And it is our pleasure that you shall pay all those persons from whom the things above mentioned shall be taken and bought out

The credence of the Norwegian ambassadors to treat with king Edward.

In evidentia sua remissa nunciis domini regis per illustrissimum regem Norwegiæ ista continentur ;—

Primo, quod idem dominus suus rex Norwegyæ regretur vobis, domino Edwardo regi Angliæ illustri, pro conciliis et amicitiiis, nec non ceteris curialitatibus, karissimo fratri Erico, quondam regi Norwegiæ, et specialiter sibi ipsi et suis, prius sæpius factis et impensis.

Secundo, quod paratus est omnia pro vobis facere quæ cedere poterunt in vestrum commodum et beneficium, et sicut frater pro fratre solet facere.

Item, tertius articulus continet ista :—

Primo, quod Insulæ Sodorenses ultra Scotiam ad regem et regnum Norwegyæ pertinebant jure domini pleno et perfecto. Tandem rex Norwegyæ, nomine Magnus, regi Scotiæ, nomine Alexandro, prædictas insulas secundum conventionem habitam inter ipsos ad firmam sibi concessit, annuatim certa pecuniæ summa reddenda regi Noruagyæ, vel ipsius legitimis successoribus, pro eisdem, minus tamen medietate justorum reddituum earundem ; sub tali conditione, quod quicumque in solutione defecerit annuæ pecuniæ, insulæ prædictæ essent in manu et dominio regis Noruegyæ, prout antea.

Mortuo vero Alexandro rege Scotiæ et præfecto in regem Johanne Baylolfæ, quidam occupaverant prædictas insulas, qui in solutione annuæ pecuniæ regi Noruegyæ reddendæ pro eisdem deficiebant. Propter quod idem rex Noruegyæ dicit earundem insularum dominium et ordinationem ad se fore devolutam. Præterea, omnia ista vobis fuerunt [A.D. 1298-9 ?] semel ostensa apud Aberconeueu<sup>1</sup> per nuncium Erii regis Noruegyæ, et vestrum super hiis petiit concilium; cui per litteram vestram consulistis quod jus suum in eisdem quam cicius et commodius posset recuperaret, de quo concilio confiditur adhuc dominus Haquinus rex Noruegyæ. Nam sine vestro concilio, voluntate vel assensu, petere vel innovare aliqua contra earundem detentores non intendit. Scientes tamen quod inimici vestri et sui quam sæpius latitant in eisdem, in vestri et sui dampnum et illusionem evidentem. Unde si vobis placet ut ipse ex illa parte pro recuperando jure suo et Scotos expugnando, vestros inimicos et suos, veniat, et vos ex ista parte pro recuperando jure vestro veniatis. Petit litteram a vobis ad omnes senescallos, præpositos, ballivos et ministros vestros in Scotia, ut adjuvent homines suos; et consimiliter litteram paratus est dare vobis ut homines sui adjuvent homines vestros.

Item, petit idem Haquinus rex Noruegyæ litteram a vobis ad senescallos vestros, præpositos, ballivos, et ministros in Scotia, ut justitiam sibi, vel suo legitimo procuratori, faciant fieri de dote, et de ejus arreragiis, dominæ Margareta, filiæ Alexandri regis Scotiæ, uxoris Erii regis Noruegyæ.

Item, eodem modo petit litteram super exitibus regni Scotiæ secundum sententiam vestram latam apud Berwyke pro filia regis Erii pro eo tempore quo ipsa vixit.

Item, petit idem rex Noruagyæ litteram a vobis super hoc quod mercatores regni Noruagyæ, vel homines sui, et naves eorum, venientes ad Angliam, vel alibi infra costeros vestros, non attachientur nec arrestentur nisi pro debitis propriis, et non pro . . . alicujus nisi fidejussoris, non obstante jurisdictione . . . ordinaria villarum vestrarum maritimarum.

ready to perform all your commandments. And because they did not come, we have arranged nothing about our affairs ; wherefore, dear sire, be so good as command them to come more promptly when we have business to attend to.

And whereas, sire, you have commanded me to be ready to obey the orders of sir Walter de Borndone, whenever he sends for me I will come as quickly as I can. And, for God's sake, dear sire, employ some counsel that the sheriffdom of Peebles be better guarded than it is.

And, dear sire, Michael de Wyttonne asks you to have the goodness to grant him the tithes of Bothel, which you have given him, upon the payment of as much as any other person is willing to give ; and hereupon be pleased to send your pleasure to the sheriff of Peebles. Have the goodness, sire, to command me to perform your wishes.

To his very honourable lord by the grace of God king of England, his own liege bachelor Robert de Tilliol, warden of Lochmaben, wishes honour and reverence.

Be it known to you, sire, that on Thursday, being the eve of our Lady, came before us at Lochmaben sir John de Soules, sir Ingram de Umframville, and along with them four banerets, twelve score men-at-arms, seven thousand footmen, or more, and burnt for us our town and assailed our peel from the middle of prime until the hour of nones, and then they left us and went to lodge near Annan, and burnt and pillaged the country round about. And on the morrow they returned and assailed us from the hour of prime until "mirleue," at which assault was wounded sir David de Brechin and sir John de Waus, and many others of their men were killed and wounded. And about the evening they went to lodge near Dalswinton, and so they are going towards Nithsdale and towards Galloway; and they cause to return to them those persons who had come to the peace, and they are collecting greater force to come to our marches, as we understand; but by the help of God we have no fear about them. One of our companions, sir William de Heriz, was taken at a sally, and a man of Wintain was killed in the assault. Sire, may God increase you in honour. Send us your pleasure as to one who is your own.

Nobilissimo viro ac excellentissimo, domino Eduardo Dei gratia regi Angliæ, domino Hiberniæ, suus Engus de Yle, humilis et fidelis, salutem quam sibi.

Vestra sciat nobilitas quod ego fui in comitatu domini Hugonis Bisseth et cum classe vestra quamdiu fuit in insula de Buth, videlicet, usque diem Dominicam proximo ante festum Michaelis ultimo præteritum, et adhuc sum, expectans mandatum vestrum.

Quare vestram nobilitatem exoro umiliter et requiro, quatinus quod si creditis quod Alexander de Ergadia sit in pace vestra et protectione, mandetis dicto Alexandro ut sit ausilians et consulens domino Hugoni Bisseth et Engusio mihi de Yle, et omnibus hominibus vestris, ut mediante sua potentia et vestra, inimicos vestros possimus destruere et vires inimicorum ad nichilum redigere. Et si creditis quod non est in pace vestra, mittatis ad nos consilium vestrum litteratorie, ut possimus, Deo adjuvante, ipsum ac alios vestros inimicos per insulas destruere.

Cæterum vestram dominationem humiliter exoro pro filiis Rodrici, qui in potentia nostra sunt, 'in hiis annis,' et fuerunt contra omnes vestros adversarios et nostros; quatinus si placet velitis concedere eis nativum feodum colere, ut vobis serviant humiliter et fideliter, prout regi debeant obedire.

by a letter of credence concerning the affairs of our lord the king on this side of the Scottish sea, know ye that our credence is to this effect :—

That we should tell the said Richard and Alexander that the Scotch have openly assembled with all their force in the lands; and that the Irish troops (who are in their pay for nine weeks and more) have heard it said that money had arrived at Berwick, and they are remaining in the country round about Linlithgow, where they can have nothing whereon to live excepting for ready money, unless they rob the people who have come into allegiance to the king; and they perceive plainly that no one cares for them nor for their lives; whereupon they have packed up their baggage to depart to their own country. And sir John de Mentethe and sir Alexander de Meyners, who had come to treat in good form for peace, broke up their business by reason of the scarcity which they saw among the said people.

Hereupon sir Aymer de Valence promised them that if money had arrived they might thereof think themselves safe; whereupon they held themselves well satisfied; and that he was not strong

Whereupon the aforesaid Richard and Alexander ought to do his commandment, so that it should be no blame of theirs if the country on this side the Scottish sea was in such a state that the king had no power to stop his enemies, to his dishonour and damage. sir John de Dovedale, and the other new knights who are with you. For we do not know where they could more honestly gain their shoes or their boots than by their expedition there. And together with them send thither such others as you can most readily and quickly send, together with such a number as shall seem to you and to your council to be sufficient. And this matter you shall cause to be hastened as much as possible, as you desire a good and speedy end to all this Scottish war. For if the company of the said Alexander be well and sufficiently reinforced without delay, we understand for a certainty that we shall speedily have good news of our enemies, by the help of God.

And know ye that we have sent so many troops of our own from those who were near us, that we could not send more from ourselves unless we would remain too much alone. Send back hastily, as well by your letters as by the bearer of these present letters, what you have done herein.

To the very noble and wise lord, sir Edward, by the grace of God king of England, lord of Ireland, and duke of Aquitaine, his liege and devoted Margaret, countess of Lennox, greeting, in reverence and honour.

We make known to your highness and dignity that sir John Cumyn has sent a part of his host across the Forth into Lennox to destroy and ruin those persons who have come to your peace. Whereupon we pray your lordship humbly and devoutly that you would deign to send us your counsel, together with succours hastily for their deliverance, and for the governance and support of those persons who have come to your peace. Know ye that whereas I (being in the homage, faith, and allegiance of my lord Edward king of England, lord of Ireland, and duke of Aquitaine), led by bad advice, have raised, and caused to raise war against my said lord, and thereto was assenting and procuring and aiding his enemies, overtly and covertly to my power, against my said homage, fealty, and allegiance, whereof I perceive, know, and acknowledge myself culpable, I, of my good and free will, have surrendered and do surrender myself entirely, absolutely, and completely to the will of my said lord. And albeit that, moved by pity towards me, he has granted me a special grace, and beyond what I have deserved in this matter, as to my pardon of life and limb, and of release from imprisonment, nevertheless, I have submitted and do submit myself entirely to the will of my said lord, and will and grant that he should do to my body, and whatever I have or can have, and all the lands and tenements which were mine at any time, or which may fall to me henceforth in any manner whatever in the land of Scotland or elsewhere, and that he should ordain, establish, and do fully at his will, and according to what he pleases.
